VOTE TWICE AS BIG AS SMITH EXPECTED

Slip Held in an Envelope Shows He Predicted Victory by 210,000.

TO STAY AT BILTMORE

Refuses to Discuss Albany Plans in Day of Congratulations.

COPELAND STAYS ON JOB

Won't Quit Health Commissioner Until He Goes to Washington.

Al Smith's plurality was almost twice as big as he expected. This was proved by the record yesterday when he opened an envelope containing slips of paper on which he and reporters covering his campaign wrote their guesses last Sunday evening. He held up his own slip and laughed. It read, "Smith by 210,000." He had offered an order on a tailor for a suit to the man who came closest to the actual result. The winner is a Brooklyn reporter. He guessed Smith by 412,000, which is nearly right.

Mr. Smith, despite all the campaign turmoil, and the hours of handshaking and pulling and hauling on Tuesday night, was distinctly chipper when he appeared in the Biltmore after breakfast yesterday. He seemed genuinely happy. There was a time when, after he left Albany, nearly two years ago, and went into the trucking business, that he felt he never could be dragged into politics again. But his bet is decidedly in that direction, and judging from his demeanor now he will cheerfully give up his large corporation salary for the sake of the opportunity he sees in Albany.

One thing he will not talk about now is his future program. Obviously he doesn't know himself how far he can go toward carrying out the many pledges he made during the campaign and will not know until he sounds the temper of the divided Legislature. Two of the questions put to him yesterday were: "Will you try to have the Mulligan-Gage prohibition enforcement law repealed? How are you going to get rid of the Transit Commission?"

"I cannot say at this time what I will try to do. I shall have to take a lot of time to think everything over carefully. You know, the day after election a man hasn't really got his thinking cap on. I've got to get some sleep and some rest and then we'll see where we stand."

A newspaper was shown to him containing telegrams from several members of the Democratic National Committee who have been asked if in their opinion Mr. Smith would be a possible candidate for President two years hence. One of them, Patrick H. Quinn of Rhode Island, answered, "Smith will be our first choice from this time on." George L. Bowman of Oklahoma spoke of him as "a probable candidate." John J. Evans of Sparta, N. J., termed him "the most outstanding figure for Democratic leadership," but added, "this prohibition views may embarrass the situation." Mr. Smith read the whole article and then said decidedly:

"I'm not thinking about anything like that. I've got a big job in the State of New York. These opinions are all right, but they're not going to take any of my time."

His formal statements on the election result was: "I am pleased with the decided victory and fully appreciate the responsibility that it brings with it. I am grateful to the newspapers, to the members of the citizens' committee, to all the various organizations, men and women, who assisted me. I am grateful to the Democratic leaders throughout the State for their earnest work in my behalf. I will start to work at once getting ready to give to the people of the State an administration that will speak my gratitude to them."

All he said as to prohibition was: "There is dissatisfaction with existing conditions and in the Volstead interpretation of the eighteenth amendment. To all the other State officers-elect he said: "Sincere and hearty congratulations. Let us pull together and we are sure to make good." And all Democratic county chairmen: "Cordial and hearty congratulations. You and your associates' good work is sincerely and deeply appreciated."

Telegrams showered his headquarters all day. His two youngest boys, Walter and Arthur, read some of them to "Pop" at breakfast. One of the messages, as read by Walter: "Wonderful majority was tribute to democracy."

"And Arthur," said the father, telling the story, "came right back with, 'What was the plurality?'"

In the afternoon Mr. Smith drove over to Middletown, Brooklyn, and spent an hour and a half with his mother, Mrs. Catherine Smith. He and his family will live at the Biltmore until they go to Albany. He expects to go to the country on Friday to stay until Sunday evening, and maybe will brush up his neglected golf.

His mother stayed up late on Tuesday night to get detailed returns. Yesterday she said: "I'm too happy to talk about anything. I'm thankful my son was elected, but I never expected to hear anything different."

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, United States Senator-elect, intends to stay at Health Commissioner of the city until he goes to Washington on March 4. At noon yesterday the workers of his department gathered in his office to salute him. He said to them:

"The elevation to this office is as much of a surprise to me as it is to you. It is nice to have honors thrust upon you, but honors have burdens. Incidentally he noted that eighty-two of the ninety-six members of the present Senate are lawyers.

DEMOCRATS TALK OF SMITH 'FOR PRESIDENT IN 1924'

To grow all yesterday when the final figures were checked up. It makes a record in modern political history in this State. Complete returns for this city give Smith 76,414, and Miller 55,594. Cassidy, the Socialist, had only 62,434 votes. The radicals went to Smith instead of Cassidy. This gives Smith's plurality in the city 43,800. The Miller plurality up-State is 55,550, making the Smith plurality for the State 43,000.

Mr. Smith beats Mayor Hylan's record of last year in this city by 60,000. Dr. Royal S. Copeland defeated Senator William M. Calder by a plurality of 290,897. Copeland ran surprisingly well, but considerably behind Smith.

The Democratic nominees on the State ticket are all elected by pluralities ranging from 150,000 up. Col. William J. Donovan ran a little better than most of his associates on the State ticket. Some of the nominees for minor offices were stronger than others in certain sections, but all received much larger pluralities than they ever dreamed they could get. The New York vote for the several nominees was:

For Lieutenant-Governor—Lunn, 661,484; Donovan, 310,654.
For Secretary of State—Hamilton, 879,950; Joseph, 632,291.
For Comptroller—Fleming, 885,177; Maier, 852,639.
For Treasurer—Shuler, 854,445; Marshall, 652,456.
For Attorney-General—Sherman, 876,224; Rogers, 622,629.
For Engineer—La Du, 800,134; Cadie, 601,925.

The up-State pluralities of the candidates ranged from 60,000 to 80,000.

Assembly Reversals.

The final count showed several reversals in the Assembly elections from the returns announced first yesterday morning. The districts in which there were changes and those elected are:

1. Victor R. Kaufman, R. instead of J. A. McLaughlin, D.
2. Horace W. Palmer, R. instead of H. W. Shields, D.
3. George N. Jesse, R. instead of S. E. Dribben, D.

Rinos.

6. Joseph Reich, D. instead of Arthur Arnov, R.
17. Julius Ruger, D. instead of F. A. Wells, R.

WESTCHESTER.

4. Russell B. Livermore, R. instead of G. T. Holden, D.

take in not meeting the Democratic ticket and beer plank, some similar declaration of principle, it would have enabled thousands of Republicans conscientiously to vote for Gov. Miller. The prohibition issue contributed more to the defeat of the Republican ticket than any other cause."

William L. Chadbourne, chairman of the Honest Ballot Association, said that the election was the cleanest on record. No serious complaints were made.

"As far as I have been able to learn the election was the cleanest, most orderly I have ever known in New York county," said District Attorney Ranton late yesterday. "Of the 27 cases reported to my office as calling for investigation only one remains to be disposed of in a Manhattan court. The case was postponed at the request of the defendant himself. After investigating the 27 cases reported all but twenty-two were eliminated through the establishing of clerical errors, deaths and removals since the persons had registered. Of the twenty-two that remained further sifting resulted in warrants being issued for only eleven, and ten of these were discharged in Magistrate's courts."

Reports of illegal voting, rowdiness, threats, buying of votes and other violations of the election laws were investigated yesterday by the office of the Attorney-General. That complaints were few, it was said, was because the recent indictments and convictions in Brooklyn have acted as a deterrent.

John Casey, 432 Baltic street, Brooklyn, was arrested and held in $1,000 bail when it was discovered that he had failed to register and had voted under the name of another John Casey.

Grover M. Moscovitz, special Deputy Attorney-General, directed two of his assistants to tour the Fourteenth Assembly district Tuesday afternoon. They found watchers under the influence of liquor and had them excluded from the vicinity of the polls. Inspectors wearing partisan badges and automobiles decorated with banners were also removed.

Jack H. Roden and his wife, Etta, of 322 Hart street, were permitted to vote, although their address was challenged. They were obliged to obtain a writ of mandamus against the poll inspectors of their election district. A colored girl reported that she had been offered $2 for her vote. Other alleged attempts to buy votes were investigated.

ALLEGED RED'S WRIT OFF.

Judge Learned Hand in the United States District Court dismissed yesterday the writ of habeas corpus obtained by Ludovico Caminita as he was about to be deported on a charge of being an anarchist. He has been remanded to the custody of the immigration authorities and will be sent back to Russia.

Calder Back on "Frowl."

Senator Calder, who lost his own borough by a big vote, did not appear disappointed yesterday.

"I have dug out my old trowel and pair of overalls and am ready to go back to the building business," he said. "Frankly, I did not see the storm coming. The people wanted someone else and I am satisfied. I can see now where I lost a lot of votes on the bonus and tariff, but it looks to me as if the result was inevitable."

Ransom H. Gillett, general counsel for the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, said today:

Credited With Winning $300,000 in Bets on Smith

A TOTAL of $250,000 changed owners as a result of the election, according to Wall Street betting commissioners. Some estimates put the figure as high as $300,000. Many Democratic supporters laid eleven-to-one wagers at widely varying odds that Smith would be elected by a plurality of 350,000 or 400,000.

A Seattle man, rated as an unknown outsider in local betting circles, won $300,000 on election wagers. One bet was $5,000 against $10,000 that Smith would win by at least 400,000 plurality. Politics is the Westerner's hobby, and before placing wagers he makes a close study of national, State and local political conditions in much the same manner that Wall Street brokers study the trend of general business and the stock market.

RUTH TAYLOR LOSES ELECTION FOR JUDGE

Only Republican Defeated on County Ticket in Westchester.

Miss Ruth Taylor, Republican nominee for Judge of the new Children's Court of Westchester county, was defeated by George C. Appell, City Judge of Mount Vernon, Democrat, by more than 1,500 votes. Miss Taylor was the only Republican defeated for county office. The others were elected by pluralities ranging from 11,000 to 12,000.

George H. Taylor, Jr., of Mount Vernon, president of Westchester County Bar Association, was elected Justice of Supreme Court of the Ninth district by a plurality of 22,400. Mr. Taylor, who was opposed by John B. Coyle of White Plains, Democrat, carried every county as follows: Westchester, 12,100; Orange, 4,800; Rockland, 800; Putnam, 500, and Dutchess, 4,000.

The fight against Miss Taylor was made on the contention that she did not have the legal ability to hold the position. On election night the reports received at Republican county headquarters at White Plains showed that Miss Taylor had been elected and she was congratulated. This needless congratulation was due to a miscalculation of figures from different towns of the county. Her college friends had gathered at White Plains headquarters and when report that she had won had been received they hugged and kissed her.

Miss Taylor would have won had it not been for the city of Yonkers, which gave more than 5,000 majority in favor of Judge Appell.

Miss Taylor carried every town in the county outside of Cortlandt, Harrison, Mount Vernon and Yonkers.

The Republican organization of Westchester county, of which William L. Ward is the leader, elected every other county officer by big pluralities.

Arthur Rowland of Yonkers was chosen District Attorney by a plurality of 11,485 over Walter G. Otto, Democrat, of New Rochelle.

V. Evert Macy of Scarborough was elected Commissioner of Welfare by 11,435, Louis N. Elliott of Mount Vernon was elected County Clerk by 11,500 and Dr. George Snowden Coroner by 11,000.

Westchester reelected the following Republican Assemblymen:

First district—Channing Moore of Bronxville (Rep.), reelected.
Second district—Major Herbert N. Shonk (Rep.).

Third district—Miss E. Goodrich (Rep.).

Fourth district—Russell B. Livermore (Rep.).

Fifth district—Arthur I. Miller (Dem.).

The county elected two Republican Senators, Walter W. Westall, of Twenty-fifth district; Seabury C. Mastick, in the Twenty-sixth.

Although Westchester county went Republican for the county ticket the complete official returns show that Gov. Miller lost the county by 1,455.

Two years ago the Governor carried the county by 14,750.

An official count shows that Donovan for Lieutenant-Governor carried Westchester by 9,677 over Lunn. This was vast contrast to the vote for Gov. Miller and despite the fact that Mr. Ward, who was chairman of the executive committee of the State committee, resides in the county.

UP-STATE REWARD DUE

Governor Expected to Recognize Support Given Him Above The Bronx.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. ALBANY, Nov. 8.—Jobs, good ones and ordinary ones, with salaries totaling thousands of dollars annually, will be at the disposal of Gov.-elect Alfred E. Smith when he takes office on January 1. With his two years' experience as Governor, Republicans at the Capitol say Smith is fully competent to fill the various appointments to the best advantage of his party.

A report to-night said that one of the first changes Smith will make will be in the head of the State Highway Department. There is every indication, according to a local report, that Col. Frederick Stuart Greene, who was Highway Commissioner when Smith was Governor two years ago, will be reappointed providing he will accept. The present Highway Commissioner is Herbert S. Sisson, who was appointed after the Governor had requested Col. Greene's resignation.

Democrats throughout the State have been declaring ever since the appointment of Sisson that Greene was the best Highway Commissioner the State ever had. When he was Commissioner, Col. Greene was a staunch advocate of concrete roads for State highways instead of the ordinary macadam road.

In the State Tax Department, Smith will have the appointment of three commissioners, places now held by Walter W. Law, Jr., John J. Merrill and Walter H. Knapp. There are series of other good jobs in this department which will be filled for the next two years by Democrats.

Tax Patronage.

It was said here to-night that the chances are that Smith will have the automobile license bureau returned to the office of Secretary of State from the State Tax Department, where it was transferred under Gov. Miller.

There are series of good patronage jobs to be filled in this work, and it was the transfer of this bureau to the tax commission that brought the first split between Gov. Miller and Secretary of State John J. Lyons.

Another department in which Smith will have some good jobs at his disposal is the State Industrial Commission. The commission at present is composed of Henry D. Sayer, Mrs. Rosalie Low Whitney, John D. Higgins and Richard H. Cady.

The State Insurance Department, of which Francis R. Stoddard, Jr., at present is superintendent, is due for a house cleaning under Smith. No one here seems to have any idea as to the possible insurance superintendent under Smith, but the general belief is that the next Governor will have hard work to find Democrats willing to accept good paying jobs in the department.

To Take Care of Up-State.

Another appointment which Gov. Smith will make, probably within a day or so after he is inaugurated, is that of Superintendent of Public Works. This position now is held by Charles L. Cadie, who ran on the Republican State ticket for State Engineer and Surveyor. In this department there are hundreds of jobs on the State canal system to be filled, and they do not come under the State civil service. It was said here to-night that there was a bare possibility that Smith might ask Edward Walsh, who held it two years ago, to take the post again.

The appointment of an Adjutant-General to succeed J. Leslie Kincaid of Syracuse, will be another of the first official acts of Gov. Smith after he is inaugurated. It was said the chances are that Smith will select a military man from New York city for this job.

One thing, however, is certain, according to the political observers at the Capitol, that Gov. Smith, because of the tremendous vote he received up-State will have to "take care" of up-State Democrats, and not play too many favorites with New York City.

To show that up-State Democrats already are thinking about jobs, the following incident was reported to-night by one of the orderlies at the Capitol: Shortly after 8 o'clock this morning while the orderly was standing near the main entrance to the Capitol, a man approached and asked what time the "Capitol opened." The orderly told him at 9, and when he asked if there was anything he could do for him the man replied:

"I'm a Democrat and I'm on the job early for a job."
